We are always asked the question... "Why should I use DUAT?"

While there are other web sites and mobile applications that have weather and flight planning capabilities, DTC DUAT remains one of the only companies that is FAA Certified. We record the fact that you obtained a briefing and save it for 15 days. If you are ever questioned as to whether you got a briefing, we have the documented proof. Those other sites may offer weather information, however, when you read the fine print, there is always a disclaimer somewhere on their site that states that you shouldn't use the information for an actual flight.
